Dear Miss Ernstoff:

The long delay in replying to your interesting invitation has resulted from the recent change in my job at NBC. There was a question for a time whether I might be free to make the trip to the school. However, this question has now been happily solved, and if it is agreeable to you I will plan to be in Northampton for a meeting on March 17.

My new job assignment may actually fit in very well with the kind of discussion you would like for your group. I am now Public Relations Coordinator for "HOME", the new program for women which goes on the air March 1.

When I have been able to complete transportation arrangements, I can write you again and we can settle on any remaining details. I hope to hear that this will fit in with your plans, and look forward eagerly to meeting with your group.

Sincerely yours,

Elizabeth Haglund
